

QUINN RECITES WORK OF LEGION IN ANNUAL TALK

Commander Says Pas-

Work of Legion

IS ON SOUND BASIS

Reached Level of Million Dollar
Corporation—Legion Is Now Over Five Years
Old.

Associated Press.
ST. PAUL, Sept. 15.—Nearly 40,000 Legionnaires are here today for the opening session of the sixth annual convention of the American Legion. The Forty and Eight organization and the Legion Auxiliary brought a number of authorized delegates close to 10,000, officials estimated. The most important matters confronting the convention were proposed changes of policy. The Legionnaires, by a standing vote shortly after the convention opened, invited the army world fliers to visit St. Paul while the sessions are being held.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 15.—Passage by Congress of legislation for the disabled, and the enactment into law of the adjusted compensation bill, were "two triumphs for the American Legion which has doubled its prestige and made the organization more cohesive service to the nation in the years before it," said R. Quinn, retiring commander, John in his address before the national convention here today.

"The American Legion has answered any doubts, fears, hopes or aspirations of the nation," Mr. Quinn asserted. "It accomplishes a work which past organizations indicate will be repeated with great results. The Legion is now a proven quantity. Where there was doubt, now repose confidence. Where there was hope, there is now assurance. Instead of fear, the legion has inspired trust. We are respected for our ideals, admired for our stamina, loved for our unselfish service."

"During the year, two major victories have been won by the legion, triumphs which have proved its great influence for good and crystallized it into a majestic force working for the betterment of our country," continued Mr. Quinn. "The greatest was the passage in the last hours of Congress of the so-called Reed-Johnson Bill. Sweeping in its reforms, generous in its provisions, just in its interpretation, it is in my opinion, the greatest reform legislation for the disabled since the creation of the Veterans' Bureau."

"The other outstanding achievement was the enactment into law of the adjusted compensation bill. Not so important from our point of view as the Reed-Johnson Bill, but as vital as other victories we have obtained, the adjusted compensation bill nevertheless, took on added importance in the public eye because of the enemies it made. The opponents of this bill, using it as an open means of attack, had in ulterior object in view. Fear, because we were the open spokesmen for those who could not speak for themselves, the opposition wished utterly to destroy the legion. They failed. Instead of crushing our organization, our enemies proved our inherent strength, instead of destroying us, they made us collective."

Passing over other work done, this year, Mr. Quinn said that if immigration "we did not achieve. At least been immigration reform following generally the thought of our revolution of 1823." The legion's Americanism policy has been closely followed, the speaker said, foremost among them being the creation of the Commonwealth Service and Civic Betterment fund; the essay contest participated in by more than 300,000 school children; the conference to combat illiteracy, and the creation of a code of ethics in many states. Continuing, Mr. Quinn said: "While the last half decade we have reached a business sense in our work, the $1,000,000 corporation, not only is the national commander the leader of a great external organization, but also is, in effect, the president of a business concern which each year has

Fido's Fidelity Beautiful Theme But Found Untrue

Praise of the canine for his eternal fidelity and watchfulness has long been the theme of song and story. It is a beautiful theory but like many others, is only a theory, and does not always prove true in actual application.

An itinerant demonstrator, the kind which appears on the streets and seeks to impress the superiority of his product on those who have time to listen to his ballyhoo, stopped here last night and left his car, with two suitcases containing his wares, on Nineteenth street. He felt perfectly safe in this as he left his dog to guard the treasure. The animal went to sleep and allowed the two suitcases to be stolen. Police were notified who, after a lengthy search, found the grips in the alley back of Donovan's meat market. There being nothing of value in the suitcases, the contents were found intact.

CENTRAL CITY MINES RESUME

Contract Signed Signed With Union—Four Smaller Mines
In Operation.

Associated Press.
CENTRAL CITY, Sept. 15.—Contract between union miners and the Phoenix coal corporation has been signed and operations will be resumed at once, President Emile Jackson, District 23, United Mine Workers, announced today.

The Phoenix company if the first of the Western Kentucky operators to sign an agreement with the union after the recent attempt to resume operation on the reduced wage scale which the union miners refused to accept. Four other small mines are being operated under the same conditions, it is announced.

The union will furnish clothing and feed to the unemployed miners during the winter months, President Jackson declared, and no hardships are expected.

Straw Hats Officially Discarded Today

Straw hats are deemed today, this being the official close of the straw hat season. Today they are either discarded entirely or are laid away for another season's wear next year.

Indications are that the custom has been generally observed here. On account of the cool and rainy weather a number of straw hats have been discarded for some time, however, and this, perhaps more than another reason, is the cause for the sudden cessation of wearing straw hats.

Among about 100 men on the streets this morning only one straw hat was noticed. Ten of the men wore caps and the remainder wore felt hats.

A money turn-over of more than $1,000,000. This year the legion has been in its business aspect successful. I suggest, however, that some plan be devised to place employment in the legion work on a more permanent basis.

"The work for the service man, for Americanism, and for child welfare must go on. They are national duties. They are the obligations we have to us by virtue of the greatest conflict in history and by your desire to render unselfish service as expressed numerous times in convention assembly."

"I believe that the American Legion should stand manfully in opposition to any force or policy which would, by its partition of the public domain, and exploit it for private gain."

"Five years of the legion's life are past. Before it stretch years rich in opportunity to serve our nation. We must not falter in the forward drive. Our disabled comrades who cannot speak for act for themselves look to us for aid and guidance. Let them not look in vain. The war may be over but the legion is still here, ready with the willing hand of comradeship. Our country calls to us for aid. Let us pray to God that by His guidance every act of ours will prove that the legion's claim to be an institution of service is no idle boast."

MONTEREY, Cal., Sept. 15.—Fire starting when lightning struck a 50,000 barrel oil tank of the Associated Oil Company, causing the death of four soldiers stationed nearby and injuring many others.

The fire damaged hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property and spread to another large tank today. The flaming oil poured down into the bay forming a sheet of fire 450 feet from the shore. Nearly forty officers and men were treated at the camp hospital for minor burns.

The river of burning oil swept down upon the government stores. While soldiers were salvaging and other stores upon the oil tank it boiled over and the fire spread rapidly to the surrounding tanks of gasoline, causing a number of explosions.

Jurist Portraits Hung at Pineville

Associated Press.
PINEVILLE, Sept. 15.—Portrait hanging of jurists in Kentucky's courts is becoming custom.

Following reports of several hangings of portraits of judges of the Court of Appeals in the consultation room in Frankfort, similar services were Judge J. H. Jeffries, Judge J. M. Gilbert, and N. R. Patterson, former county attorney, took part, were held recently.

As a consequence, portraits of the late Judge M. J. Moss, Sr., Judge W. T. Davis, both of Pineville, and Judge J. M. Tinsley, of Harroville, former circuit judges now hang in the 26th district court room.

ALLEGED BURGLAR HAS BAD MEMORY

Bob Garland Does Not Remember
If He Broke Into Two Local Homes.

Bob Garland, held at the city jail on a charge of breaking into two local homes and of taking money for one of them, says that he does not know whether or not the charges are true, that he has no recollection whatever of what occurred during the period in which he is charged with the crimes.

W. P. DeVore identified him as the man that entered his room at Fanny Fite's boarding house Saturday night and suspects that he took five dollars which was missing after the nocturnal visit. He is also charged with entering the rooms of a Maples family over Hiram Thompson's store.

He was arrested by police officers soon after the alleged entry of the Maples apartment. He will appear before the city judge, probably tomorrow, and will be allowed the opportunity for a preliminary hearing.

Rash-Gillian Act to Have Attention

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 15.—Strict construction of the Rash-Gillian act, Kentucky's prohibition law, will be rendered in Commonwealth cases at the fall term of the Court of Appeals, beginning next Monday, it is believed.

The judges have been stating many cases in consultation, it is understood, prior to convening of the term next Monday, Sept. 15. A number of reversals are anticipated.

Sweeping charges are understood to have been made in prosecutions by Commonwealth Attorneys who receive 40 percent of all fines. Commonwealth Attorneys are allowed $500 salary and fees up to a total annual income of $5,000. A number of liquor cases in circuit courts are passed from one term to another.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 15.—The heaviest fighting thus far in the civil warfare took place along the Shanghai-Nanking railway directly west of the city today. The Chinese soldiers were caught in a machine gun trap at the furthest point of advance and moved down in wholesale fashion.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 15.—Armed of the rival military governors fighting for the possession of Shanghai battled with renewed force in all sectors today when the storm ended and the reappearance of sunshine became a signal for a resumption of warfare.

Fighting today is more intense along the Shanghai-Nanking railway fifteen miles west of here. The foreign population of Shanghai recovered from the first alarm of disorder incident to China's sectional war, accepting the situation philosophically. Business generally is suffering severely, however. There has been no reduction in the foreign naval force landed here.

Story of French Detective's Chase Reads Like Fiction

Associated Press.
PARIS, Sept. 15.—This is the story of a Paris detective who traveled half way around the world for his quarry, and finally, in the dense jungle of Annam, three miles from the sea, he arrested his man, who is now doing three years in jail.

As related here an antiquary named Malraux was under the obligation of being responsible for some recent thefts from French museums. It was thought he had designs on collections of antiquities in one of the French provinces, and as a matter of routine a detective was assigned to trail Malraux and a companion, wherever they might go.

The pair went to a seaport and there took passage on a steamer for Saigon, French Indo-China, and the detective went along on the same vessel. He did not even have time to buy a change of clothing, but made friends among the crew and borrowed what he needed.

At Saigon Malraux and his friend posed as rich travelers, anxious to see the country, while the detective

Statement Made Public Resenting
Term "Progressive" to the Candidacy of La
Follette.

Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Supporters of Theodore Roosevelt and the Progressive Party, to the number of about 50 from different parts of the country, tonight gave out a statement expressing "resentment at the attempt to arrogate the name of 'Progressive' for the radical movement represented by the candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette."

"Simply as a personal candidate," said the statement, "Senator La Follette has earned no title to the confidence of supporters of Theodore Roosevelt. He refused them his aid when it would have been decisive of success," the statement adds. "He has held aloof from any Progressive movement of which he was not the beneficiary. The Republican party which he now repudiates was satisfactory to him when it had shrunk to a minority fragment dominated exclusively by its conservative element."

"As a temporary movement, attached to a candidacy which in the course of nature cannot be repeated, it can do nothing except harm," the statement said. "There is no pretense that it could win this election. Neither is it intended to turn the victory from one party to the other. The only hope is to deadlock the electoral college and prevent an election by the people."

"As progressives, ready to move forward but determined not to move toward the precipice," the statement said in conclusion, "we see no hope and much danger in this movement which seeks to usurp the Progressive name. We regard it as a supreme challenge to vindicate the memory of Theodore Roosevelt by repudiating this attempt of frustrated ambition to promote the class cleavage in class politics, which Roosevelt spent his life to prevent."

CITY SCHOOLS RESUME WORK

Regular Session Begins Tomorrow
—Bible Presentation Yesterday.

Middlesboro people witnessed the sight of hundreds of boys and girls going to school this morning for the first time since their close in early summer.

At all the schools pupils reported for book lists and necessary instructions this morning. They are procuring the books today and will report for regular work at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The enrollment appears to be unusually large but definite figures regarding the number of pupils have not been compiled.

A great deal of interest was shown at the Junior order exercises at the central school building yesterday afternoon. After a program consisting of appropriate music and speeches, Bibles were presented to the city schools by the Jr. O. U. A. M. E.

Sheiks Remedy for Combating Hair Bob Craze

Found: A means to combat and perchance stem the tide of the feminine bob which not only numbers girls of pre-flapper stage in its adherents but also threatens to engulf sedate matrons.

The experiment may work and it may not for it is proverbial that no one can determine the workings of a woman's mind. The remedy is simple though it will perhaps require several weeks or months to put it into effect.

A masculine patron of a local barber shop was asked why he is allowing his mustache to grow out. He explained that his wife abhorred his rude upper lip decorations even as he did the bob and that he intended to cultivate the mustache until his better half allowed her hair to recover from the effects of the barber.

APPEALS COURT DOCKET CALLED

137 Criminal, 349 Civil Cases On
Docket for Term Beginning
Today.

Associated Press.
FRANKFORT, Sept. 15.—Advancement of 600 odd motions in criminal and civil cases, involving jail sentences and disputes over property and money, respectively, was made by the Court of Appeals today, convening for its fall term. The full docket of 137 criminal and 349 civil cases was called. It showed fifteen criminal cases from Daviess county, seven from Jefferson, five from Fayette, four from McCracken, two from Kenton, and the rest scattered over the state. There were about 100 whiskey cases. Criminal cases will receive first consideration. The judges have been stating cases all summer.

In a motion for rehearing construction of a new law came before the court. The law takes from the Jefferson county judge power to break a tie vote in election questions before the fiscal court and gives to a majority of the commissioners. The law also takes from the county judge of that county appointment of successors to fill any vacancies among commissioners and gives the governor the right. Rep. W. D. Watkins, Anchorage, Ky., democrat, is author of the act. Gov. Fields approved it.

Motion by Attorney General Frank L. Daugherty for dismissal of the case against the Commonwealth to test the first revocation of a pardon in the history of Kentucky was made. Frank Hudspeth, convicted Covington bootlegger, brought the case in the spring term. His 60-day jail sentence expired July 4th. The attorney general said the question was a moot one. The court reserved judgment.

Gov. Fields on May 2, revoked Hudspeth's pardon of April 16th. The governor said the pardon was secured through fraud, in a statement, accompanying the revocation and that Dr. Edward J. Nestley, Hudspeth's family physician, and Mayor O'Donovan, Covington, represented that Hudspeth was tubercular.

Orie B. Ware, Commonwealth Attorney, and Tom Murphy, Covington, Hudspeth's attorney, skirmished day after day in both Kenton Circuit Court before Frank M. Tracy, circuit judge, and in the appellate court. Murphy protested that Judge Tracy would not hear his case, Ware pleaded to the contrary.

Judge Tracy resigned after Hudspeth's dismissal and Gov. Fields appointed Speaker Sam Adams of the state legislature his successor.

Murphy, in the closing days of the higher court's spring term, pressed for appellate ruling, but the case was not reached.

The boulevard, parks, skyscraper roofs and fire escapes were black with humanity. Police snarls were thrown about the planes as soon as they landed but the throngs control their welcome even with greater gusto when Lieutenants Nelson and Wade arrived.

PROGRESSIVISM AND LAFOLETTEISM

The first battle of the primaries of 1912 was fought in North Dakota between the forces supporting LaFollette and the backers of ex-President Roosevelt. The state was progressive and Taft had little or no following in the state. LaFollette won at the primaries with the result that progressive action in the next was split and the nomination of Taft followed with the subsequent split in the republican party that resulted in the election of Woodrow Wilson in November.

The supporters of LaFollette in the 1912 campaign in Dakota were the same that afterwards formed the N. P. League and to whom that state is indebted to the greatest loss of business credit in its history. The supporters of Roosevelt were constructive progressives, the supporters of LaFollette were pure socialists or worse. Dakota had experience three years with the result that North Dakota farmers with the intelligence of the inhabitants of a Matabele village attributed the story of the ruin of the state to the republican administration.

The millions that melted under the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt were not radical in any sense. No higher type of American statesmanship is to be found in America, can history than Roosevelt. The movement stood for political and social justice, not economic revolution. It believed in democracy, not Socialism. Its purpose was to improve rather than destroy American institutions.

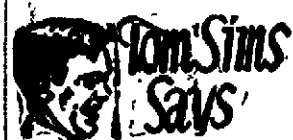

The LaFollette movement, in the face of the good intentions of many of its supporters seeks to deliver them to a program of Socialistic government little better than that of Russia. The Socialists regard the LaFollette candidacy as a step towards economic revolution based on class war.

Mr. LaFollette has earned no title to the term progressivism. He refused the supporters of Roosevelt aid when his aid would have been decisive. He has held aloof from any movement towards the front where he has not been the beneficiary. The history of party politics in Wisconsin in the past twenty years is but the history of a party run, for and by one man—LaFollette and his friends.

Mr. LaFollette's candidacy is no more than a farce against the constitution of the United States. The amendment proposed by LaFollette would if adopted, authorize congress to repass a bill declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, nullify the courts decision and make the bill the law of the land. Congress could pass a law against the freedom of the press, the freedom of religious worship, the freedom of speech or any other inalienable right of the people and work to the irreparable damage of minorities. All Supreme Court decisions are not wise. Wise men as well as less wise contemporaries but why destroy an institution that has been the rock on which the constitution has been based for over a century and a half?

The people of the United States have had a full length view of congress during its last session. If the LaFollette program is carried out they would have an opportunity of seeing it in action without the restraining hand of the courts to withhold it from destroying the most basic things of government and liberty.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

(By Harry B. Hunt)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Despite his approval of fraternal order, as voiced by his address a few weeks ago to representatives of the fraternal congress who called at the White House, President Coolidge is not a "joiner." He belongs to no lodges, societies or similar organizations and knows no secret grips, passwords or incantations.

By accident rather than design on the part of the Republican convention, Coolidge's running mate, General Dawes, also is an outsider in fraternal affairs, never having ridden the goat at an initiation or otherwise qualified to wear the jewelry of any secret order.

If, as suggested, Dawes' failure to line up with the great mass of Americans as a lodge member was due to his alleged aversion to keeping secrets, rather than his reluctance to taking an oath, then Coolidge's non-participation may be explained by the reverse formula: that while Coolidge could keep all the secrets—that is one of the best things Cal does—he doesn't like to swear to do so.

The oath of office is declared to be the only oath ever indulged in by the President.

All four Democratic and Independent candidates for president and vice-president, by contrast, are lodge members.

Dawes, LaFollette and Wheeler, are Masons, each having gone through all the grades up to and including the thirty-second degree.

Bryan is an Odd Fellow.

Although the candidate's score is imperfect in the matter of fraternal allegiance 100 per cent membership is claimed in the matter of religious affiliations.

Coolidge is a Congregationalist, and Wheeler a Methodist.

Harding was the first Baptist ever sent to the White House and Coolidge the first Congregationalist.

Dawes should be elected, would enable the Presbyterians to tie the record of the Episcopians, who today head the list with eight presidents to the Presbyterians' seven.

Next in line are the Unitarians, with four, and the Methodists, with three. The Dutch Reformed Church has had two and the Campbellites one.

To help Republicans stick to Coolidge, G. O. P. headquarters are getting out millions of little stickers about the size of postage stamps bearing the admonition, "Keep Cool."

Coolidge's picture on the stamp immediately suggests that the way to keep cool is to keep Coolidge.

One of the most interesting occasions at the White House in recent months got notice only in the society columns of Washington papers.

This was the over-Sunday visit, September 12, of former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois.

On the face of it, and so far as any publicity about it went, the Lowden visit was purely a social one. Yet it is hard to imagine either Lowden or Coolidge week-ending together from sheer social regard for each other. Particularly after Lowden declined the honor of second place on the ticket with Coolidge.

Could a transcript of their conversation be obtained it would be easy to get odds that it dealt principally with the state of Illinois politics. Lowden, if he will, can be a big help to the G. O. P. out there. If he does, the Illinois campaign certainly will be no "social affair."

Shooting 'Star' Plays With Bear In Off Hour

There are all sorts of interesting things for the girl performers with Sells-Floto circus to do when they are not working in their acts, and Bee Starr, finds Prince, the "star" in "The Bride and the Beasts," the gorgeous opening lyrical spectacle of the show, a wonderful pet, affectionate, playful, with a gift for the snappy retort, expressed with quick stories of his clownish snout.

When Sells-Floto comes to the Fair Grounds, in Middlesboro, Wednesday, September 17, you'll see the two stars, Bee and Prince.

Bee Starr is one of the nine girl aerial flyers in the two Edward Ward troupes, and she is known on the lot as "The Shooting Star", while Prince stars in the great spectacle in the menagerie, especially when some one comes along with crackerjack. Prince is an old trouper, and he's been eating crackerjack for years, but never has he had half enough. There are grizzlies, brown bears, black bears, Siberian bears and polar bears in the Sells-Floto, wild animal acts—this year—over forty of 'em.

GRID SCHEDULE IS ANNOUNCED

Louisville Preparing for Biggest Football Season in History

Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 15.—The university's football team is attempting the hardest football schedule in its history, coaches of the squad of about 50 men gave as their opinion today.

All the games will be hard, those with Kentucky, Transylvania, Rose Poly, King College and Chattanooga, particularly, in opinion of the staff.

The prospects are very promising due to the fact that we have a number of old men back and a goodly number of new men," they agreed. "There are a number of things that may happen to cause a complete reversal, but Louisville will give a good account of itself." The team this year will be light, and they hope it will be fast, they said, adding that it is impossible at this time to make an estimate as to the average weight.

Of the old men, the coaches are depending upon, there are five seniors, nine juniors, and one sophomore. They are Capt. Osborne, Harry Daugherty, V. Vandewert, H. Itaden, M. Schiengold, H. Simon, seniors; T. Kensale, A. Fischer, S. Thompson, M. Corso, F. Cadill, W. Haws, J. Hoeker, F. Riddle, W. Brohm, juniors, and S. G. Weiler, sophomore.

The promising new men include H. Gentile, junior, Blackberry, Mostor, L. Glass, DeWitt, sophomores, and H. Roth, J. Daugherty, freshmen; and F. H. Maybell, Morris, Phillips, Berry, Alleberg, and Caste.

The schedule for 1924:

Oct. 4.—University of Kentucky at Lexington.

Oct. 11.—Western State Normal at Louisville.

Oct. 18.—Georgetown at Georgetown.

Oct. 25.—Transylvania at Louisville.

Nov. 1.—Rose Poly at Terre Haute.

Nov. 8.—Kentucky Wesleyan at Winchester.

Nov. 15.—King College at Louisville.

Nov. 22.—University of Chattanooga at Louisville.

Nov. 27.—Marshall at Huntington, W. Va.

All freshmen and sophomores, in the Arts college are required to attend regular classes in physical training and are excused for football. This brings a good supply to the gridiron, coaches say.

"This is particularly true of unpenned household and farmyard species.

"The roaring instinct is much more ancient than is that of domesticated dog, the cat and the turkey.

"All of these, including man, occasionally revert to type."
